The History of the Celebration of Father's Day

Please read to get an interesting history lesson on the many pieces that lead to the celebration of Father's Day.

A "Father's Day" service was held on July 5, 1908, in Fairmont, West Virginia, in the Williams Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church South. Grace Clayton was mourning the loss of her father when, in December 1907, the Monongah Mining Disaster in nearby Monongah killed 361 men, 250 of them fathers, leaving around a thousand fatherless children. Clayton suggested to her pastor Robert Thomas Webb that he should honor all those fathers. Clayton chose the Sunday nearest to the birthday of her father, Methodist Minister Fletcher Golden.

Clayton's event did not grow outside of Fairmont because of the celebration of Independence Day as well as other summer events. Clayton also may have been inspired by Anna Jarvis' crusade to establish Mother's Day. Two months prior, Jarvis had held a celebration for her deceased mother in Grafton, West Virginia, a town about 15 miles away from Fairmont.

The first celebration of Father's Day was in the Spokane Washington at the YMCA (Young Men's Christian Association) on June 19, 1910, by Sonora Smart Dodd. Her father, the Civil War Veteran William Jackson Smart, was a single parent who raised his six children there.

After hearing a sermon about Anna Jarvis' Mother's Day at Central Methodist Episcopal Church in 1909, she told her pastor that fathers should have a similar holiday honoring them. Although, she initially suggested June 5, her father's birthday, the pastors did not have enough time to prepare their sermons, and the celebration was deferred to the third Sunday of June. It did not have much success.

In 1911, Jane Addams proposed a citywide Father's Day in Chicago, but she was turned down.

In the 1920s, Dodd stopped promoting the celebration because she was studying at the Art Institute of Chicago, and it faded away, even in Spokane. In the 1930's Dodd returned to Spokane and started promoting the celebration again, raising awareness at a national level. She had the help of business groups that would benefit most from the holiday, for example, the manufacturers of ties, tobacco pipes, and any traditional present to fathers.

Since 1938, she had the help of the Father's Day Council, founded by the New York Associated Men's Wear Retailers to consolidate and systematize the commercial promotion. Americans resisted the holiday during a few decades, perceiving it as just an attempt by businessmen to replicate the commercial success of Mother's Day. Newspapers frequently featured jokes about it. But the businesses did not give up. They kept promoting it and even incorporated the jokes into their ads, and they eventually succeeded.

A bill to allow national recognition of the holiday was introduced in Congress in 1913. In 1916, President Woodrow Wilson went to Spokane to speak at a Father's Day celebration and wanted to make it official, but Congress resisted, fearing that it would become commercialized. President Calvin Coolidge recommended in 1924 that the day be observed by the nation, but stopped short of issuing a national proclamation. Two earlier attempts to formally recognize the holiday had been defeated in Congress.

In 1957, Maine Senator Margaret Chase Smith wrote a proposal accusing Congress of ignoring fathers for 40 years while honoring mothers, thus "singling" out just one of our two parents.

In 1966, President Lyndon B. Johnson issued the first presidential proclamation honoring fathers, designating the third Sunday in June as Father's Day. Six years later, the day was made a permanent national holiday when President Richard Nixon signed it into law in 1972.

There you have it, the history of Father's Day, and how it all began. Take time to thank the Lord for the gift of your dad whether living or deceased. I am so blessed to still have my father in the here and now.

Until We Meet at the Table, Father Fred

Return, How to Draw Your Child Back to Church

by Brandon Vogt

Bishop Robert Barron wrote these words:
 “While God may not have grandchildren, people do. If you are a parent or a grandparent reading this work, chances are you are worrying that your child has drifted away from the faith. In the face of apparent failure and heartbreak, you are asking yourself: What went wrong? Did I do enough? What more could I have done? To these many questions, Return offers tremendous and desperately needed help. Rather than opting for despair, Brandon calls for creative new approaches imbued with the liveliness of the new evangelization. This book will serve as an essential resource for the Church’s evangelization efforts and a true game changer for the desperate everywhere.”

The Rectory Office & the Adoration Chapel will be closed on
