The Solemnity of our Lord Jesus Christ, King of the Universe
Ezekiel 34: 11-12, 15-17; Psalms 23: 1-3, 5-6; 1 Corinthians 15: 20-26, 28; Matthew 25: 31-46

“Come, you who are blessed by my Father. Inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world.” Jesus states those words as His invitation to each of us to join Him in His Kingdom. Of course, he also includes some conditions that require us to demonstrate Christian love — including: feed the hungry, welcome the stranger, clothe the naked, and care for the sick.

Today we commemorate the Solemnity of our Lord Jesus Christ, King of the Universe. The Kingdom of God that Jesus represents is referred to often in the Bible. In fact, in the four Gospels, the word “kingdom” appears very often. The Gospel of Mark mentions the “Kingdom of God” or the “Kingdom of Heaven” 14 times; Luke 32 times; Matthew 37 times; John 2 times. We understand that this kingdom is not the kind with which we are familiar. The Lord makes the point over and over that it is not of this earth. Jesus is a different kind of king.

The first reading from the prophet Ezekiel stresses the idea of the Lord as the Good Shepherd. “I myself will look after and tend my sheep.” To emphasize that He is this shepherd, God speaks firsthand to us in this reading. Eleven times He uses the personal pronoun “I.” He makes it clear from “I will tend my sheep” to “I will rescue” to “I will heal.” The use of this personal pronoun makes it clear that the Messiah will be more than a man.

The Responsorial Psalm is the beautiful 23rd Psalm: “The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want.” This trust in God, this belief in Him as the Shepherd and the Guardian, is that trust that allows us to live lives of discipleship — lives that know that He will protect us and be with us and whatever commitments we make through stewardship, God will enable us to succeed.

Jesus’ reminder to us in the Gospel of Matthew that we will be judged based upon how we treat others, as He can be found in all others, and we need to recognize that. The ongoing challenge of discipleship (living a stewardship way of life) and the obstacle to a Christian life for many of us can be found in the word “apathy.” That is what Jesus is telling us: that it is not just a question of what we do, but that our attitude toward this is equally condemning. We may think that turning our backs on those in need is all right, but the Lord is telling us that even though we may feel that we have done nothing immoral, our lack of interest in the needs of others is just as bad. We must not be unconcerned about the gifts God has given us; in fact, we need to use those gifts to build the Kingdom of God. And we certainly cannot show a lack of care for those in need. Jesus has made this point throughout His ministry. The cost of indifference is as great as that of openly mistreating others. Even the well-known author and playwright George Bernard Shaw once said, “The worst sin toward our fellow creatures is not to hate them, but to be indifferent to them: that is the essence of inhumanity.”

As we prepare to enter the season of Advent in what areas do we need to grow in the gift of Discipleship, living a Stewardship way of life? Could it be in the attribute of Empathy?

Putting yourself in another person's shoes might lead you to act with compassion and do what you can to improve their situation. Is that not what Jesus did for us? Something to ponder in the weeks leading up to a new year.

Until We Meet at the Table,
Father Fred
